P. Kamalopolli, associate director of the boys' department, presided at the meeting and explained to those present the purpose and results of the efficiency tests which have been given at the Y. M. Medals will be given to winners at the end of the year.

Trinity M. E. Sunday school representatives were present and reported that the efficiency work which has been in progress at that school for a few weeks is proving a great success and the school is enlarging.

Dan 'yle will address the high school Bible classes Wednesday evening in the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. Supper will be served preceding the address.

Another fire, which might have reached serious proportions if it had not been discovered in good time, occurred Tuesday morning about 9:30 o'clock. Central and hose house No. 2 responded and with chemicals succeeded in confining the blaze to the pit which is used for making connections between the cars and the tank house. It is thought that the pit was set afire by sparks from a passing engine. The damage was small.

Political Gossip

With a statement to the effect the party proposed to fight national preparedness, state press gossips herald preliminary campaign work on the part of national socialists. Nominations for president, vice president, as well as national secretary and a national executive committee, are being made by locals over the country.

Each local organization will make a nomination for each of the available places, and each nominee who gets a nomination from 10 or more organizations may have his name placed on the referendum ballot, providing he accepts the nomination within 15 days. Primary regulations adopted in many states seem to govern the referendum. After the first ballot is taken, the two highest, if one is to be elected, or one in excess where more than one is to be selected, are voted on a second ballot.

Kokomo and Richmond are the only locals thus far in the field with completed nominations. Marion county socialists plan making nominations within two weeks. Kokomo nominated Charles E. Russell of New York for president and Adolph Gerner of Illinois, vice president. Richmond named Allen E. Benson of New York to head the ticket and William H. Henry of Indianapolis as his running mate. Indiana socialists have completed their nominations for state officials of the party and ballots for each member to vote on are being sent out to the 160 organizations in the state.

Marion county socialists plan opening permanent headquarters in Indianapolis the first of the year. Eugene V. Debs, Ryan Walker, Emil Seidel and George R. Kirkpatrick are expected to return to the capital soon and to prepare for active campaigning, which state papers claim this year will be more productive than ever before. Sixteen men have been mentioned as candidates for president.

That James F. Fry of Fort Wayne, deputy auditor of state, is in line for the democratic state chairmanship, is the statement of a special dispatch to the Fort Wayne News from the Hoosier capital. He is mentioned as the logical successor of Bernard Korbly. W. H. Vollmer of Vincennes, formerly state treasurer and second district chairman, is the man held for some time as the best chance, but according to the Indianapolis dispatch, Fry is THE man. Perusing the Fort Wayne article, one finds:

"There is no question but that somebody will take the place of Korbly. The leader here is Fry, because he has failed to show up at any of the big democratic rallies and meetings that have been held throughout the state. They say he is not paying the proper amount of attention to the duties of state chairman."

A. J. Hickey of Laporte, republican candidate for congress two years ago, was a visitor in South Bend Monday night, but during his stay here mentioned very little concerning politics according to those who were with him most of the evening. However, since the announcement that Hickey, in the words of a well known republican, was "back" again, and that the north end politician considered himself the most available timber for the coming campaign, the republican love feast at Springbrook and its unearthing of a Gaylord boom is brought to mind. Mayor Gaylord said he had no designs on the congressional nomination, but he made this statement some little time prior to the love session. And at that, the Mishawaka man declared himself "willing to listen to his friends in the party." Which is considered enough to assure his name on the primary ballot. A. E. Martin is also considered a republican congressional candidate at the primaries.

Peter B. Miller of the LaSalle Fruit Co., LaSalle av., who ran against Swanson unsuccessfully two years ago, is said to be hot after the republican primary nomination for congress. Schuyler Robertson of Lakeville, at one time sheriff of St. Joseph county, and defeated again by D. B. J. Schaffer, is also figured upon in some republican circles as willing to enter the race.

O. A. Clarke, mentioned Tuesday as a possible candidate in the republican primaries for county treasurer, is strong in his declarations to the effect he will not under any circumstances enter the race.

Edward Elmer of Seymour, who served as joint senator from Jackson, Washington and Brown counties, will seek re-nomination in the new district consisting of Clark, Scott and Jackson counties, to succeed Sen. Floyd Parks of Jeffersonville, who was the "daddy" of the senate last session. Jackson takes the place of Jennings county in this district. W. E. Wagner, who represented Clark county in the house a few years ago for two terms, may run for senator. Ed C. Hughes of Clark county, spoken of for senator, will run for representative.

That James E. Watson has threatened dire vengeance on the republican state committee following a refusal to get behind his candidacy for United States senator and that he is still threatening has gone the rounds of the Indiana press with varied comments. However, the consensus of opinion seems to be that Jim won't get very far in the fulfillment of his alleged mission and that his party is rather well satisfied with the roster of its state organization.

The c. e. begs to inquire if Ignatius Werwinski intends to start his political boom with the cannon he presented the city some time ago. The question is passed on to Mr. Werwinski.

Commenting on the assertion of the Indianapolis Star to the effect Sen. Boies Penrose of Pennsylvania would be a candidate for president, the Logansport Pharos-Reporter says:

"There is something for republicans to think about. Perhaps they will be able to decide whether his thing is an exhibition of color or nerve or whether he is actually so stupid and so lacking in an understanding of conditions and widespread sentiment as to believe that the voters of the country would be willing to place him in the highest office."

"Boies Penrose stands for all that was sinister and retrogressive and objectionable in the old republican party. He typified them, and typifies now the worst elements of the party—the elements and actions against which 4,000,000 voters rose in protest three years ago. Some of the old leaders have shown signs of a change of heart, but not Penrose. There are no fruits meet for repentance in his corner of the vineyard."

However, Penrose is only a candidate.

Thanksgiving!

Home-coming time, a day when all of us turn toward the family hearth, pledging again, in the bounties of nature, those ties we hold most dear.

Truly, this has been a strenuous year, a year of tremendous activity, of events crowding one upon the other with startling rapidity. One great thought must come home to all of us—Peace and the bountiful blessings of peace are ours—Let us be thankful.

This great store of service is moving steadily ahead. Old friends remain steadfastly with us, new friends, in greater numbers, are coming to know our greater values, and the satisfaction which comes only from faultless merchandise, which makes for true thanksgiving, on their part and ours.

We have made Service the keynote of this store because we believe that only through careful, intelligent, helpful service can we hope to bring about a full appreciation of Livingston values.

This service starts in the wholesale salesmen's sample trunks; it guides every operation in the manufacture of our merchandise; it makes for timely deliveries—that we may be, as we always are, first with the new things in good clothing.

Livingston service is the teammate of Livingston Satisfaction—the two are absolute and inseparable.

YOUNG TEUTON SAYS GERMANY WAS PREPARED

Municipal Lodger Left Navy to Avoid War Which All Knew Was Coming.

Max Schmidt, a young German who was one of the guests at the Hotel De Gink, the municipal hostelry, Tuesday night, made the assertion while he was being booked that the sailors in the German navy knew that war was imminent a year before hostilities started, and many resigned to escape war service.

Schmidt served three years in the navy, resigning two years and a half ago and coming to America to avoid the war, which he says, was certain to come soon. At that time, he was getting six cents a day, out of which he had to furnish his own shoe polish, besides tobacco, beer and other luxuries. Two of Schmidt's brothers were killed in France in engagements last summer.
